Measurement, monitoring and metrology

SYSTEM ARCHITECTURE

Step 1 : Install the recorder on the chamber to be monitored.

The SPY RF recorder measures and records the temperature data and wirelessly transmits to the Sirius Box receiver.

Step 2 : Position the SiriusBox for radio transmissions and simply plug into a power outlet.

The Sirius Box then transfers measured data daily to the JRI central server. Data are saved, archived and can be consulted.

Step 3 : Review your data and share information through any PC or web device, thanks to secured access.

In case of alarm, the recorder sends an alert message to the JRI central server via the SiriusBox and pre-set alarm notifications such as email, text message or voice message can be launched.
